

Graduate Opportunities in ICT

Every day millions of people throughout the world consume food or beverage products containing Kerry ingredients, flavours or nutritional products. We are recruiting the future leaders of the business to join our Graduate Programme starting in July/August/September 2017.

The role:

Our ICT Graduates play a key role in executing our global business transformation projects. The culture within the ICT function is one of dynamic innovation and team work. The pace is fast but there is real satisfaction in seeing a solution you have developed being implemented globally across the business.

Upon joining as a ICT Graduate at Kerry Group, there are opportunities to be involved in developing, supporting and enhancing a wide range of applications, from initial data capture through to the most sophisticated analysis and presentation techniques.

You will be required to manage close working relationship with colleagues across all areas of the business, from sales and marketing, supply chain and procurement through to applications and brand managers. It's a big responsibility, and it can take you all over the world.

You could find yourself at one of our manufacturing sites as a member of a project team developing a new production scheduling system, supporting the execution of digital and internal brand communications, or even working on an international scale implementing new systems and processes, such as working on our global SAP implementation project.

With formalised on-the-job and external training, your functional skills and technical knowledge will be continuously developed. As these grow, you'll be given even greater responsibility working on higher profile projects, and your job progression could lead you to working in a project management or business analyst capacity or another role within the ICT function.

Who we are looking for

- Minimum 2:1 degree in Computer Science, Business Information Systems, Engineering, Digital Marketing or Graphic Design
- Exceptional problem solving skills and a history of high achievement and delivery
- Motivated self-starter with the determination and drive to succeed
- Exceptional leadership and communication skills
- Strong ability to work well in a team and on your own
- Must be globally mobile
- A second language would be distinct advantage

If you think you have what it takes to become a future leader in Kerry, apply online at <http://www.kerrygraduates.com>

Applications close 31st January 2017.
