Job description :

Description:

Everybody wishes they had superpowers! Usually, people would likely sell a kidney in order to pay for the ability to fly, to become invisible or just to never have to queue for anything ever again.

For you, it was the ability to read code and see what the coding is all about, like those guys from the Matrix franchise. Hopefully, you didn't have to sell any organ to pay for coding education (is that a thing?). Actually, we hope nothing else happened in your life that can be linked to the storyline of these movies, even though that highway gunfight was pretty cool.

Required profile :

Requirements: Must Have: As a software developer, you are

- * Experienced passionate about development
- * Willing to learn the latest technologies,
- * Capable of working within teams,
